

GEOINFORMATICS & GEODESY INTERNSHIP

Software/Map Engineering Support - Geodata - Internship

We have an opportunity for a student of engineering or geographical focused university to join our Honeywell Aerospace team in Brno.

Key Responsibilities

- Generating maps for commercial and defense helicopters
- Tracking data, run procedures in commercial software and create geographic data structures
- Reading source code when working with internal toolset
- Supporting experienced engineers

Skills you will need

- Are you a student at university field focused on geoinformatics, cartography or other engineering field with interest in working with spacial data? We are looking for you!
- Good command of the English is necessary for communication with colleagues
- At least basic awareness of C, C++ or Python

We Offer

- Interesting position focused on generating geodata
- Market-specific training and ongoing personal development
- Being part of an established multicultural team with solid know-how
- Professional development plans – you will become experienced in using outstanding technology
- Flexible working hours

If this is your dream role, then we'd love to hear from you! Click on the QR code and APPLY.

